

Homebrella Residential Automation

Integrated Packages & Custom Applications

Internet / home networking barrier-free access control
power management
multi-room audio
climate control
home security

home cinema / media rooms
advanced phone systems
integrated controls
storage systems
lighting control
special needs

“Multimedia shall be woven into the fabric’ of your home creating an enhanced living environment that is exciting, convenient, secure, and user friendly for everyone to enjoy.” Kevin Orr, President.

Whether looking at a new home or renovation, you can use an intelligent home network to make your home and your life more convenient, comfortable and secure. You’ll have the wiring infrastructure to quickly and easily incorporate future technologies.

Use it your way. Gone are the days of having audio/video, cable, satellite and Internet services limited to one or two locations within a home. Take advantage of the consolidation of hardware, components and point-of-entry services. As you need them, distribute these services dynamically and securely within your home.

Simply put, we will help you create an exciting environment that is easy for the whole family to use. It works when and how you want it to. Our home systems now permit the ‘information highway’ to interact with your home, under your specific control.

Why be wired? Tucked into the framing of your new home is wiring that connects everything. Traditional wiring delivers the bare minimum of control and communication, making some of these activities difficult, impossibly slow or even impossible.

For the first time, you can plug all your information, entertainment, electronics and security needs in one multifunctional outlet to each and every room in your home.

Advantages Of Contracting with Homebrella Located in Ottawa, “Canada’s most wired community”, business leaders have relied on our expertise for the design and management of complex technology projects.

Count on us as your full service provider of intelligent home systems.

As designers and integrators, we collaborate with developers, architects, interior designers, builders and most importantly, the homeowner to produce a custom system for a lifetime of enjoyment and convenience.

When Should You Contact Homebrella?

The best time to call us is “before the project begins” ~ this allows us to develop an integrated design with your Architect, Interior Designer, and Builder.

Whether you’re building a new home or moving into an existing one, call for an introductory consultation to learn more about the advantages of owning a home that really connects with your lifestyle.

Tomorrow’s home, today...designed with you in mind!

